EXPLAINING AWAY A BLACK EYE

Reader, did you ever get a black eye and then try to explain it away to your friends? If you have had an eye with a dark background, you will agree with me, writer, that it simply can't be done.

I have a friend in town whose first name is Harry. Now Harry has been carrying a beautiful black eye for several days and try as he may to convince his friends that this discolored spot was not due to someone else coming in contact with that part of his anatomy, his efforts have been an utter failure. As a matter of fact Harry got his black eye coming in contact with a horse's head.

I have known men who suffered black eyes through a stick or wood flying up, or by bumping into a door, etc., but I never knew anyone who could make his story stick, although I heard them tell the story in such a way that it should have convinced me. No reader, it simply can't be done. So if ever you are unfortunate enough to get a "black eye" say nothing about it and take the taunts of your friends right on the chin.

The writer speaks from experience.

HAS A HORSE A SINGLE-TRACK MIND?

Over the weekend I sat in with a group of horsemen. I mean horsemen. Not those who just talk about horses. These men know horses and spoke out of their long years' experience. They have mingled with horsemen more or less since coming to the Peace River some nine years ago and though I had heard every phase of the horse discussed, I had never heard of a horse brought out something about a horse which I had never heard before.

They were at first told that a horse has a single-track mind. In other words, he can only think of one thing at a time, but his mind is certainly on that one thing.

It was agreed that serious accidents could have been averted if the attention of the horse or horses could have been diverted to something else. One of the group told how a man prevented a runaway of a team of horses which were going off at the sight of an oncoming train by slipping them on the heads with a felt hat until the train had passed.

Many other phases of the horse question were discussed, such as what causes balky animals, cold shoulders, etc.

All said that if a man came to them who knew nothing of a horse and admitted it they would see to it that he got a sound horse which had no bad habits. However, when it came to dealing with a regular horse dealer they would play him at his own game and put one over if it were possible. This seems to be the recognized code of the regular horse dealers. As one man put it: "If I don't slip it over on him, he will slip it over me." So there you are.

WHAT A DIFFERENCE GOOD CROPS MAKE

When the author of the column arrived in the Peace River in 1927, and for about two years following, there was plenty of money in circulation. Optimism was evident everywhere. Everybody was smiling. There came the slump. Optimism and smiles gradually faded, appearing generally.

New the old smiles are back. Hopefulness is again having its turn and the coming winter, though it may be long, has no terrors.

The change can be traced to the fact that the people of the Peace River will have more money to spend the balance of the year and the coming year than they have had since 1928.

They feel a security. Security—that is the word.

What a pleasure to Travel Along The Trail these days and hear farmers and home-steaders, and hear them say: "Now let the winter blow and the well how and the winter crop as early and as well as it can be." If the increased flow of money business men have caught the optimistic spirit. They are stepping right out. Of course, I mean lively.

With such a splendid spirit evident on all sides it seems good to be alive.

PROTECT PURITY OF FARM WELLS

Next in importance to the location of the farm well, which should be far removed from the sources of contamination, are the protective measures which may be taken to safeguard the purity of the water. The first step after digging to drilling the well is to protect it from the surface. The well must have a good cover of concrete or wood over the well. It should be fitted with a galvanized iron pipe reaching to the bottom, care being taken that the lower end of the pipe is effectively sealed to the rock and that the top of the pipe is sealed to the cover. Otherwise surface water may trickle down outside the pipe into the well.

If the well is shallow and wide, the sides of the well should be made impervious to an adequate depth. Ten or twelve feet is the usual depth recommended for the purpose, and which may be of concrete, puddled clay or cemented tile. The bottom of the well should be continued upwards one foot above the surface of the ground. By this means, surface water cannot filter through a depth of ten or twelve feet of earth before it can enter the well and if the earth is in a reasonably clean condition the water thus becomes purified.

Further safeguards are the tinning of the area immediately surrounding the well, fencing to prevent the approach of animals, and refraining from using fertilizer within the vicinity.

CANADA LAGS IN FISH CONSUMPTION

Compared to the people of England, Canadians are poor fish eaters. In the opinion of Alfred H. British, head of one of Canada's largest fish producing companies and former president of the Canadian Fish Producers Association, in the Old Country the consumption of fish amounts to about 43 pounds per person. In the Dominion it is only about 21 pounds per capita. Yet, according to reports presented to the fishing industry, Canadian fish is noted the world over for its flavor and quality.

Mr. British has continuously advocated an educational and advertising campaign by the government to help increase markets within the Dominion for Canadian fish. If the national consumption of fish were increased by only ten pounds per capita it would mean approximately another 10,000,000 pounds of fish.

With the present or "made for the increased consumption of fish now appearing in the newspapers and magazines of the Dominion that goal seems to be within grasp. According to Mr. British such an increase would add materially to the general welfare. It would benefit the transportation companies and affiliated industries. It would increase the revenue of the primary producers, and it would provide a real stimulus for the entire fishing industry.

TELL THE PEOPLE

Tell the people. We have told them that they must pasture their cattle and we have told them why. The people have taken it well. No doubt it was a shock to them at first. No doubt there are still some unbelievers.

There are a few towns and villages where cattle are not pastured, and where they may not be intelligent enough to submit to the pasteurization of milk on January 1, 1937. No doubt there may even be some places where such a law may be defeated, if submitted on January 1, 1937. Those who vote may be partly responsible for the sickness, disability and death caused by the use of unpasteurized milk. But the people have taken the news well and in the country many of our leading farmers have for weeks past their households boiled three minutes, and they like the taste of it, and they know why they have it better.

We have told the people, ever since 1922, when Koch discovered the tubercle bacillus and proved that it was the cause of tuberculosis, that tuberculosis was a transmissible disease, and therefore that it could be prevented. Don't let it be transmitted.

Every person who has tuberculosis is a scoundrelously clean and careful and make sure that anything that he coughs up, any sputum, is burned or otherwise destroyed, that his pocket handkerchiefs are burned and his spittoon is not kept in his pocket, that he does not cough in people's faces, and that he does not spit.

BEEF RING MEETING CALLED FOR NOV. 9

A meeting of the Beanie Heights community Beef Ring will be held at the hall here on Monday evening, November 9.

ANOTHER HALLOWEEN APPROACHES

As another Halloween approaches, those of an adventurous nature will be passing their jokes and pranks, as has long been the custom.

Everyone should be allowed his fun but one might caution that if loss or damage to property is sustained, it does not seem to be in his own interest. It pays to consider the other fellow a little sometimes.

LOCAL BRIEFS

We are glad to report that Mrs. Howard, who recently suffered a fracture of the wrist, has recovered and is able to move about.

be breathed by them, that his dishes are washed by themselves in boiling water and not used by others, and if he has a sore throat, he should be particularly careful, no infection is transmitted by him and nobody gets tuberculosis from him. People who work in sanitariums for tuberculosis are given the most rigorous precautions in such a sanitarium are perfect and no one gets the infection of tuberculosis there.

We have told the people all of this and we have taken it well. Since 1922 there have been some people who only half understood these things and got the idea that tuberculosis was transmissible and their minds stopped at that point, and so they were afraid of the person who had tuberculosis and were sometimes cruel to him. He is not afraid of the clean and careful person who has tuberculosis. He is safe. The only one to be afraid of is the person who has tuberculosis and does not know it, or won't admit it, and so will not take any precautions. He should be examined by the best modern methods to ascertain whether he has tuberculosis or not, and if he has, he should go to a sanitarium, so that he can learn how to control his disease, and then protect other people when he is well enough to come home again.

Questions concerning health, addresses, have been sent to the Association, 384 College St., Toronto. Will be answered personally by letter.

SCENIC HEIGHTS RALLY DAY SERVICE

SCENIC HEIGHTS, Oct. 27.—A special Rally Day and Thanksgiving service was held at the hall here on Sunday, October 27. The specially outfitted service was followed and the address was given by Rev. Wm. J. Hughes of Winnipeg.

The day's service was wisely postponed until a time when all the sheaves had been gathered in. The harvest this year would give ample cause for real thanksgiving.

DONATE VEGETABLES

The plea for vegetables towards filling a car for the dried-out areas was answered by those who still had a surplus of vegetables on hand. Mr. Fred Richards kindly gave the use of his truck for gathering up many of the donations.

Had it been at an earlier date the dried goods, have not been a greater response for many had already given away or otherwise disposed of their surplus vegetables. However, it was a very fine effort on the part of people in extending a helping hand to those who have been less fortunate than ourselves.

DANCE AN OUTSTANDING SUCCESS

Although the orchestra was late in arriving, the dance did not get going before 10:45, the crowd soon made up for lost time and for the hour past seemed in a mood for thorough enjoyment themselves. After some getting started, the orchestra left little to be desired by way of music.

At the end of the evening, the crowd was under the capable direction of Mr. G. Groves, who, as floor manager, saw everyone was put through their paces as for tricks, one steps, waiters and waitresses danced, other in rapid succession.

At lunch time the grub bus was used to the limit in order to accommodate the unexpectedly large crowd. However, rather than forfeit their reputation for good lunches, the ladies prepared an eleven-hour ration of refreshment.

The next dance to be held here at Beanie Heights will be on Friday, November 29. The opening dance of the season there are many such good times in store for the people of scenic heights and surrounding districts.

Ledy's hat and man's overcoat, left in the hall, were recovered upon identification of owner.

Are You Planning NOW for Your Child's Future?

Boys want to work at fourteen when we were young. We regarded this sort of thing as a mark of industry and character, and we were even a little proud of it. But today, education is the essential work, the key of every young man or woman. Every father is striving to find some means of providing this education for his children. He knows that an Educational Policy is the ONLY WAY to insure a boy or girl a personal place in the business world of tomorrow.

LAKE SASKATOON

HOLDING FIRST MEETING
LAKE SASKATOON, Oct. 27.—The A. Y. P. A. are holding their first meeting of the season at 8 p.m. Thursday of this week, in the basement of St. Andrew's Church.

RECEIVE BAD NEWS
Messrs. Fred and Herb Bradley received the sad news of their father's death in the Old Country recently. Mr. Bradley, Sr., had been ill for some time.

We extend our sympathy to them and also to Mr. Charles Bradley and family, who are leaving our district shortly and taking up their residence near Wembley.

We are sorry to hear Mrs. John Smith has been unwell for sometime and trust she is feeling better again.

Jack Allsup has left for Vermilion, where he is taking a second-year course.

Mr. Arthur Smith returned on Friday's train from Calgary, where he has been visiting for a few days.

Some of our young people attended the dance at Reinde Heights last Friday and reported a good time.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Ross, Jr., have taken up their residence in our district and we wish them long health and happiness.

SEEN AND HEARD
Two bachelors trying out a new car.

A couple starting out for the dance last night heading south (migrating no doubt).

Our teacher enjoying the choir practice from the barn.

The ladies of the W. A. decorating the church for the Thanksgiving service.

Two citizens repairing the telephone.

ALONG THE WAPITI

PROVES ITS SUPERIORITY
ALONG THE WAPITI, Oct. 27.—Threshing all completed here, George Adams being the last to put in, having had a remarkably long run. This district has again proven its superiority in the way of grain and high grade of wheat, oats and barley threshed, and these yields have been uniform throughout.

Also the banks of the Wapiti have upheld their record. Jack Stevenson's farm on the Wapiti threshed 30 bushels to the acre of the finest wheat sent into Dimond this fall.

EXPECT TO BE THERE IN FORCE
The returned men of the district were pleased to hear of the out-time banquet and smoker for Armistice evening to be held at the town hall in force. Transportation is their only problem.

The Johnson brothers are occupying Ray Campbell's place this winter.

Ray Campbell leaves shortly to spend the winter with his people. Mr. Campbell left some fine seed. We hope they will have an enjoyable holiday.

Ed Woods is helping at Bill Mitchell's place, some fine improvements on his house.

Ian McAllister is busy hauling wheat from this district.

Jack Stevenson was a visitor at Maclean's last Thursday.

The pie social and dance held under the auspices of the W. T. last Friday opened the social season. It was a great success in every way.

Independent Valley

INDEPENDENT VALLEY, Oct. 26.
Mr. and Mrs. Harry Branson and Mrs. Clarence Goodspeed and children visited at the Jas. Willard home last week. Mrs. Goodspeed remained a few days, returning home on Sunday.

Most of the men in the district have returned home from harvest and threshing.

Church services were postponed on Sunday on account of Rev. Mr. Rand having to go to Regina.

Mr. Jas. Willard and daughter, Joyce, visited at the Fossom and Sullivan homes on Wednesday.

Mr. Walper from Tupper Creek is threshing at the Willard, Hamilton, Gannon and Hale farms this week.

The Athletic Club are opening the season with a hike on Saturday night. We hope the season stays nice.

Several of the men in the district are working on the road near Roy Twombly's.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecile Branson, Clarence Goodspeed and the Hill brothers visited with Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Willard Sunday.

Helen and Francis Houde have been on the sick list.

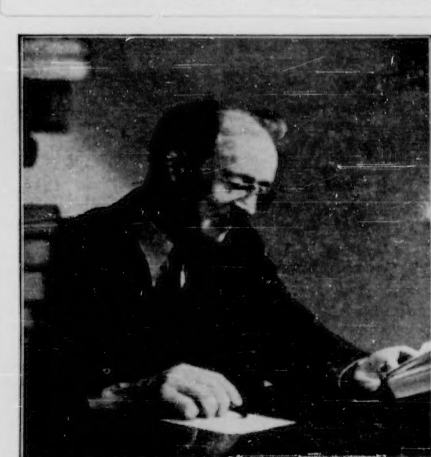

We are sorry to hear that Ramona Mason is ill at the Grande Prairie Municipal Hospital. We hope for a speedy recovery.

Mr. Gordon Fossom returned home on Thursday from Grande Prairie, where he has been employed.

Brilliant Critic Again
To Review New Books

Professor J. F. Macdonald, brilliant critic, who reviews books for Radio Commission listeners. His program, "The Book Review," is heard each Saturday at 5:45 p.m., eastern-midwest networks.

"When publishers assure us that each new book is a masterpiece, it is overlooked at our peril. It is increasingly difficult to find out what is really worth reading. I am glad to have the pleasure and responsibility of that task again for a very intelligent radio audience."

In characteristic mood, Professor J. F. Macdonald announced his own return to the Canadian air and the Radio Commission program department, made itself in the very gratifying position of being able to sponsor one of the "stand-out" programs in the Commission network for the third winter season on Saturdays at 5:45 p.m., with his highly successful "Book Review."

That this feature has proved one of the "stand-out" among the Canadian air's better programs, is verified by a formidable mail on file in the Toronto studios.

It is one thing to be a booklover, it is another to have a keen, penetrating, able, pleasantly sophisticated mental standing by who will tell a busy world what to read, what is the cream of the current literary output, what must not be missed by the bright, inquiring mind, what may be passed by the luxury-biased connoisseur.

Such is the creator of "The Book Review," Professor Macdonald of the Department of English, University College, Toronto. He possesses that rare gift for reading and passing on the joy that a book has given him so ably that you feel compelled to read it, too. And you can be equally sure that he will not praise a book that does not merit praise.

newly arrived from CCA's sister station in the sunny south, CHOC. Jack takes his place as the young and member of the thousand water's edge, and one of the most enthusiastic listeners in the district are already familiar with his cheery salute in the early hours of the morning.

Blow your horn the autumn air as with the sun the American neighborly spirit for the season connected with a presidential election. It is only to say that if a strike vote were taken to judge the popularity of Canadian broadcast features, Dr. Stewart's radio voice, commentator, and his Sunday afternoon review would rate very near the top. Carried in Edmonton by CHOC at 4:30 p.m. for Stewart's witty comments on topics of the day enjoy widespread popularity.

THAT the boys and girls of the district are having a fine time of their lives with the World's Review. It's not a bad game... it's that new conversation service... it's the top.

THAT everyone knows how Dorothy Horvack got her job... and is best (the fact) is...

THAT Jack Dawson, latest addition to the astounding department of Edmonton's big station, has shaken the dust of Lethbridge from his feet and decided to stay where he's already set a new record for getting down to work... working at 4:45 and being on the air at 7.

THAT the able members of the staff of CHOC, gorgeous though they be, rather resent being named "The Franchise Aid." And why not? meaning why not mean it.
